About the Book

Drive-by shootings are a terrifying reality for many people living in urban areas. Erica Stewart's memoir, Drive-By Shootings, offers a raw and unflinching look at the impact of these senseless acts of violence.

Stewart was just 11 years old when she was caught in the crossfire of a drive-by shooting. The bullet that hit her severed her spinal cord, leaving her paralyzed from the waist down. In Drive-By Shootings, Stewart recounts the harrowing events of that day and the long and difficult road to recovery that followed.

Stewart's memoir is a powerful and moving account of the human cost of gun violence. It is a story of survival, resilience, and hope.
